automated (i.e., no human involvement) processing of data and that produce legal effects or that significantly affect the individuals involved.

You have the right to complain to a data protection authority about our collection and use of your personal data. For more information, please contact your local data protection authority. Legal Basis for Processing Information

Where required by the EU General Data Protection with Regulation 2016/679 of the European Parliament and of the Council on the protection of natural persons with regard to the processing of personal data and on the free movement of such data (“GDPR”), we will only collect and process personal data about you where we have a legal basis. Examples of legal bases include consent (where you have given consent), contract (where processing is necessary for entering into or the performance of a contract with you), and “legitimate interests.”

Where we process personal data based on consent, we will ask for your consent. You may withdraw your consent at any time, but that will not affect the lawfulness of the processing of your personal data prior to such withdrawal. Where we rely on contract, we will ask that you agree to the processing of personal data that is necessary for entering into or the performance of your contract with us, and we will inform you whether the provision of your personal data is mandatory and of the possible consequences if you do not provide your personal data.

We may process your personal data for the purposes of our legitimate interests, provided that such processing does not outweigh your rights and freedoms. Where we rely on legitimate interests, you have the right to object. We process your personal data based on legitimate interests in order to:

- Market and sell our Products;
- Protect you, us, or others from data security threats;
- Comply with laws that apply to us; and
- Enable or administer our business, such as for invoicing Customers or Distributors.

In many cases, we will use European Commission-approved Standard Contractual Clauses as a legal mechanism for data transfers from the EU. You can find more information about Standard Contractual Clauses here on the European Commission website. These clauses are contractual commitments between companies transferring personal data, binding them to protect the privacy and security of the data.

Retention Period

We retain the personal data we collect from you when we have an ongoing legitimate business need to do so (such as providing you Products). We will also retain your personal data as necessary to comply with our legal obligations, resolve disputes, and enforce our agreements.

However, if the parent or guardian of a child under 16 believes that the child has provided us with personal data, the parent or guardian of that child should contact us using the contact details provided under the “Contact Information” heading above if they want this information deleted from our files. If we obtain knowledge that we have personal data about a child under 16 in retrievable form in our files, we will delete that information from our existing files. In addition, anyone under 16 years old should seek their parent’s or guardian’s permission prior to using or disclosing any personal data on the website.

Direct Marketing and Do Not Track Signals

We currently do not share personal data with third parties for their direct marketing purposes without your permission.
